Greetings,

On December 3, 2010, The Keystone Center will kick off its dialogue process on the proposed Pebble Mine with an independent panel titled "Responsible Large-Scale Mining: Global Perspectives." This day-long event at the University of Alaska Anchorage will bring together international experts from academic institutions, the mining industry, and non-governmental conservation, cultural resources, and sustainable development organizations. The panel will include presentations and discussion of the environmental, social, cultural and economic principles and criteria that experts use to define responsible large-scale mining. The event is free and open to the public.

There will also be a free live webcast for remote participants.

Please see the attached press release and visit www.keystone.org/pebble for more information. To register, visit: www.keystone.org/registration/pebble.

Please feel free to share this information with others, and please contact me with questions about this event or the dialogue process.

Sincerely,

TB

Todd Bryan, Ph.D.
